

Improving representation of surface processes in LEM

with Gilles Brocard, Jane Willenbring

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

EarthBYTE
Building a Virtual Earth

Australia's landscape

- remarkably flat, with an average elevation of only about 325 m and local relief never more than 1500 m.
- major rivers are slow flowing, commonly into salt lakes in the arid interior

Locality and features map, also showing Australia's deserts, rivers and lakes.